EMPEROR IS UNDECIDED

TO ADVISABILITY OF LAND CONGRESS

Signaling of Arguments for and Against the Plan—Statement Made by One of the Emperor's Ministers.

Petersburg, Feb. 15.—In spite of Emperor Nicholas' personal inclination in favor of the zemsky sobor, as intimated to Leo Denovitch Tolstoi, the imperial decision to summon this parliament has not yet been taken. The emperor is carefully weighing arguments for and against the plan before committing himself to a course. This statement is made upon authority of perhaps the most liberal of the emperor's ministers, who this evening informed the Associated Press that the question remains under consideration of the Tsarskoe Selo.

Myself have frankly urged upon his majesty," the minister said, "the view of the time has come when the people should no longer be denied a voice in the government; and the counsel has been given by many others, who like me, believe the moderate liberal element, which has been drifting away, can thus be rallied to the support of the government. His majesty received our views sympathetically and I believe is personally inclined to adopt the course we suggest. He is carefully deliberating upon the subject. It is no secret, however, that powerful influences about his majesty are pressing the contrary view and advancing strong arguments which can not lightly be thrust aside, even if the decision is finally favorable."

It is understood one of the arguments advanced by the court party against revival of the zemsky sobor is the fact that the czar in the old days wielded immense power, being himself responsible for the election of the Rumanoff dynasty to the throne and therefore it might even underlie, if again called into being, to elect a new ruler.

ADDITION TO NAVY

Japanese Naval Strength Increased Fifty Vessels—War Reports.

Victoria, B. C., Feb. 15.—The steamship Montom, which arrived today from Japan, brought news that fifty vessels will be added to the Japanese naval strength as a result of operations now being conducted at Port Arthur. Large numbers are working to recover the vessels, some of which will be repaired at the Port Arthur docks, which 1200 workmen are putting in repair to receive the sunken vessels as soon as they are raised. A recent arrival in Japan from Port Arthur states that the captured guns, artillery, machine guns, locomotives, railroad cars and other trophies, have been massed on hill grounds ready for shipment. Considerable coal is being stored at Golden Hill.

STOESSSEL DENIES CHARGES

London, Feb. 15.—A correspondent at Port Said of the Standard gives an interview with General Stoessel, chief of operations, in which he denies the charges made by the Standard concerning the capture of the Prinzenstein and its defensive equipment. General Stoessel attributed the Japanese success in a great measure to the superior quality of their drilling tools, compared with those of the Russians, which he said were "rotten and rusty," when used against hard rock. The general emphatically declared all the public descriptions of the second line of forts were purely imaginary. These forts, he said, were only temporary defenses.

Stoessel further declared strength of the Russian never amounted to 25,000 men. At the end of April, before investment became total, Russian forces on Kwantung Peninsula were only 19,533. He adhered to original reasons given for the surrender and throughout the interview appeared to be bitter whenever the navy was referred to.

WAR REPORTS

Tokio, Feb. 15.—Russians have begun an extensive cavalry movement against Oyama's extreme left. Last night they were attempting to cross the Hun River west of Liao Yang with 9,000 horsemen. The operation began west of Chitanka. One force of cavalry stole into Liao Hun. Simultaneously another force approached Tachia, thirteen miles southwest of Chitanka. Nine thousand cavalry with artillery approached the river a mile below Tachia and attempted to cross at six in the evening, advancing on Hokuotai (Korvotai). Shelling of Oyama's center continued.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 15.—Lieutenant General Salchaff telegraphs Russian army Feb. 13 destroyed buildings and walls of Nangazi, from which the Japanese had been bombarding the Russian trenches. The Japanese were driven out. Tokio, Feb. 15.—The British steamers Appollo and Scotsman, bound for Vladivostok, were captured off Hakkaido yesterday.

BECOMING SERIOUS

Fewer Men Are Working at Lodz and Suffering Among Families of Strikers.

Lodz, Feb. 15.—The situation here is becoming serious. Fewer men were working to day. There is much suffering among the families of the strikers. The governor himself admits that conditions are very grave. He is anxious to avoid bloodshed, but fears it will be difficult. He has peremptorily ordered the soldiers to refrain from exciting animosity of the strikers and that they must not shoot unless first attacked.

The attitude of the strikers shows increasing hostility. The governor fears it will be necessary finally to proclaim martial law and this probably will end the strike, but it may cost many lives. The situation to night appears to be most grave and unless the deadlock is shortly broken the outlook for a settlement is extremely discouraging.

WAR MATERIAL FOR JAPAN

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The Pacific mail steamship Korea sailed today for the Orient with a cargo of 11,000 tons of merchandise, which includes a large amount of war material for the Japanese government.

Port Said, Feb. 15.—Gen. Stoessel and 537 officers and men from Port Arthur sailed this afternoon for Odessa on board the steamer St. Nicholas.

Nearly a score of meetings and conferences were held during the day and the second general session of the convention was held at night. Three different meetings were held during the forenoon. At noon there was a special session of the department of correspondence instruction. Dr. Frank W. Gunsalus, of Chicago, president of the American Institute of Technology, was the principal speaker. The afternoon was devoted to departmental meetings, of which there were fourteen, and the day concluded with a second general session of the convention, which was held at Tremont temple. At a night session of the religious convention Prof. John M. Coulter, University of Chicago, delivered an address on "Science as a Teacher of Morality." Other speakers were President Henry S. Pritchett of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Prof. William E. Dubois of Atlanta University, Prof. Henry S. Nash, Episcopal Theological school, Cambridge.

Next day a letter was received from him announcing his resignation of his position in the war department and of the presidency of the medical class.

PROTOCOL OF SAN DOMINGO

DOCUMENT RECEIVED AT WASHINGTON

Transmitted to Senate With Message From President—Senate and House Proceedings—Other News.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The San Domingo protocol was received at the state department to day and taken at once by Secretary Hay to the president.

Briefly stated, the protocol provides the United States shall collect the customs revenues of San Domingo and turn over to President Morales' government a special percentage necessary to meet the expense of the administration and disburse the remainder among foreign claimants. The United States undertakes to respect the integrity of San Domingo and the protocol or treaty must be approved by the United States senate and Dominican congress.

In anticipation of the arrival of this convention a letter has been prepared at the president's direction to accompany the document when it goes to the senate. It is devoted entirely to a statement of the reasons which led the president to enter into negotiations with San Domingo as the basis for the proposed treaty.

SENATE

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate to day continued, but did not conclude consideration of the bill making appropriations for support of the government of the District of Columbia. While the bill was before the senate Elkins took exception to an item for construction of a local bridge as in interest of speculators and made a general plea for economy in the matter of appropriations.

HOUSE

The question of what the policy of the government should be with respect to rebuilding of the navy was again threshed out in the house to day during consideration of the naval appropriation bill, debate developing much opposition to the proposed addition of two battleships to the naval establishment. Defense of the Philippines played an important part in the discussion, while events of the war in the far east from a naval point of view were given prominence by the advocates of an increased navy.

HEARD MESSAGE

The President's message transmitting to the senate the new San Domingo protocol was read at the executive session to day, following the passage of a mass of unobjectionable bills. Not more than six or seven senators were present. The leading feature of the message was that in order to maintain the Monroe doctrine it was necessary for the United States to see that just claims, contracted by South and Central American republics and those of the West Indies should be paid, and that therefore was in the interest of the peace for this government to take over control of the revenues in San Domingo. This subject of the Monroe doctrine was discussed at some length, especially as regards relations of the United States to republics of the south. In protesting these republics and guaranteeing their territorial integrity it is said in a measure to be necessary also to see that just debts are obligations contracted by these republics are paid so that foreign intervention in affairs of such republics may be avoided.

WANTS INFORMATION

Representative Grosvenor of Ohio introduced a resolution to day requesting information from the secretary of the Interior as to the violation of certain laws regulating the taking up of public lands. The resolution asks the secretary whether there is any foundation for the preamble and resolutions recently passed by the National Business league of Chicago, relating that under certain pre-existing laws, namely, the desert land law, timber and stone law and commutation clause of the homestead law, certain persons have been and are surreptitiously obtaining possession of large tracts of public domain which were set apart to promote irrigation of arid lands.

BACON'S RESOLUTION

Senator Bacon's resolution asking that the senate committee on foreign relations investigate and report to the senate whether the protocol of an agreement under which the United States authorities undertake to administer certain customs offices of the Dominican government in order to satisfy the claim of the Santo Domingo Improvement company is valid, having been made without the consent of the senate, to day was ordered referred to a subcommittee to be appointed by Chairman Cullom. The motion to refer the resolution was made by Senator Bacon, who stated that there were many questions of law involved and that it was his desire that a nonpartisan report be made.

EXECUTIONS POSTPONED

REPRIEVES FOR MRS. EDWARDS AND GREASON

Governor of Pennsylvania Withdraws Death Warrants on Recommendation of Board of Pardons.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 15.—On recommendation of the board of pardons to day Governor Pennypacker withdrew the death warrants in the case of Mrs. Kate Edwards and Samuel Greason, who were sentenced to hang to morrow morning for the murder of the woman's husband. The case of Greason will be again taken to the Pennsylvania supreme court and if that tribunal refuses to reopen the case attorneys for the prisoners will have to appear before the board of pardons next month.

Reading, Pa., Feb. 15.—When news of the rehearing in the Greason case and continuance for Mrs. Edwards was sent to the jail Mrs. Edwards was lying on a cot moaning, sobbing and giving full away to her feelings. It was explained to her that she had at least been granted a new lease of life. It was hard to make her understand. She said it appeared to her as if her life was only spared to prolong her misery. She apparently realizes she is only saved from the gallows to enable her to testify in favor of Greason.

They have been living apart for a year.

GEN. WALLACE DEAD TO CONTROL ITS OIL FIELDS

Author of "Ben Hur" Passes Away at His Home in Indiana.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 15.—Surrounded by his family Gen. Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur," one time minister to Turkey and veteran of the Mexican and civil wars, died at his home in this city to night, aged 78.

The health of Wallace has been failing for several years and for months, despite efforts of the family to keep the public in ignorance of his true condition, it has been generally known his vigorous constitution could not much longer withstand the ravages of wasting disease. For more than a year he had been unable to properly assimilate food and this, together with his extreme age, made more difficult his fight against death. At no time has he ever confessed his belief that the end was near and his rugged constitution and remarkable vitality have been responsible for prolonging his life several months.

The death bed scene was one of calmness. Besides his physician only his wife, his son, Henry Wallace, of Indianapolis, and Mrs. Wallace were present. When told by his physician that he was dying General Wallace was perfectly calm and his last words were expressions of cheer to his grief-stricken family. Bidding them farewell, he said, "I am ready to meet my maker," and lapsed into unconsciousness, from which he did not recover. No definite funeral arrangements have been made.

Dr. Rutledge said to night the direct cause of the general's death was exhaustion resulting from starvation. For weeks General Wallace had been unable to take any assimilating, strengthening food of any kind. His stomach absolutely refused to perform its functions and it was only his iron constitution and remarkable vitality that kept him alive for more than three months. All nourishment for weeks has been given by hypodermic.

THREW NURSE OUT

Affairs of Former Wife of King Augustus Took a Dramatic Turn Yesterday.

Florence, Feb. 15.—Affairs of Countess Montignoso (former wife of King Frederick Augustus of Saxony) took a dramatic turn to day. For some time the countess has schemed to abduct Princess Anna and place her in care of her father, the king. To day under the pretext that the king's cousin was waiting to see the nurse at the gate of the villa where the countess is residing the latter led Mahote to the gate. Then quickly pushing the nurse outside, and closing and locking the gate the countess cried: "Go to your master, spy." Entering the house the countess ordered all of Mahote's belongings thrown out of the window into the street.

The nurse protested against her ejection, but unavailingly and later applied to a locksmith to aid her in re-entering the villa, saying that she had lost her key. The locksmith declined. Mahote then went to Dr. Korner, a Dresden lawyer who came here recently to demand that the countess relinquish the custody of the princess to King Frederick, and he, in company with the German consul returned with her to the villa, where they found all doors bolted and even the bell wires cut. Dr. Korner appealed to the police, but was told they could not enter a private house without orders of the court.

People in the vicinity of the villa have been intensely interested in the royal domestic drama and many declare they will personally oppose any attempt at violence against the former crown princess of Saxony.

APPEAL FOR ASSISTANCE

The Kansas Oil Producers' association to day sent a telegram to President Roosevelt appealing to him and to congress for assistance in protecting the oil industry of Kansas. The telegram says: "Because the legislature presumes to exercise the natural function of government by legislating for the welfare and protection of industries within the borders of the state against oppression of all monopolies, and because the legislature proposes to try the experiment of a public oil refinery as a means of preserving and making profitable the oil industry, the general manager of the Standard Oil company has declared a boycott upon Kansas oil and one of his subordinates has insulted our people by expressing in public prints a groundless fear that they will destroy the company's property."

"We further represent to you that a menace to the crude oil market is a threatened ownership by the Standard Oil company of what is known as the 'Foster lease' of the Oango Indian reservation. This reservation includes one and one-half million acres of land which contains a reservoir of petroleum so rich that if the Standard Oil company to own and develop it that company will have a supply of oil that will make it independent of private production, not only in the west but all over the United States. The lease is nominally held by 'straw men,' but it really is in the grip of the Standard Oil company, and oil producers, appeal to the president, secretary of the Interior and congress to refuse the application now pending for its extension. It is too much for the government to give the Standard company or its agents, an organization which is already so powerful that it presumes to be greater than the people or government whose courts give it protection."

NORTONVILLE BOYS MAKE STATEMENT

Shooting Tragedy Discussed by Principals—Journal Representative Has Interview With Butts and Wesleydorman Now Convalescent at Our Savior's Hospital.

George Wesleydorman and Thomas Butts, the two young men who were seriously wounded in a pistol duel fought on the streets of Nortonville nearly three weeks ago, are gradually improving.

The lives of both hung in the balance for more than two weeks and leading physicians pronounced their condition exceedingly grave and their possible recovery a miracle.

One suffering from a severe wound in the abdomen and the other with a bullet in his neck, which entered directly in front just beneath the "Adam's apple," another in his right lung and another in his side, made up a total of injuries which to the physician meant little hope.

Both are patients at Our Savior's hospital and their condition has so far improved that a reporter was permitted to interview them and both told the story of that terrible night which culminated in an almost fatal shooting.

During the hour's conference with them and the many references made by each one regarding his antagonist, not an unkind word was spoken nor a single disrespectful statement made regarding the character of the other.

When the suggestion was made, that inasmuch as their recovery had been almost a miracle and that they had been spared through an agency greater than human hands, would it not be a proper expression of their gratitude to offer to each other forgiveness and bury forever all ill will before going out of the place into which they had been brought to die; Butts replied:

"I do not know whether we can ever square this matter or not."

Wesleydorman replied: "I would gladly forgive and forget, and never speak of this affair again."

The young men have rooms at opposite ends of the long hall on the first floor and the nurses say that each one asks regarding the condition of the other every morning.

STORY TOLD BY BUTTS.

Butts was the first to be interviewed. He looks to be about 28 years of age, is of spare build and talks with a great deal of earnestness. He is suffering with three wounds and two of them were very serious, the one in the throat and in the lungs. His story was, in substance, as follows:

"There was going to be a dance out at McNeilly's, and as the sleighing was good, four of us had decided to take a sled load of girls out to the dance. The four of us who got up the sled party were: Elmer Newby, Raymond Timberlain, Finis Treble and myself. Early in the evening we started with our sled and gathered up the girls. We had to come back through Nortonville on the way to the dance, and as we passed through the town there were five fellows standing on the street who came running out to the sled and said they were going to ride out with us. They were: Arch Hughes, Kirk Kelley, Billy Wesleydorman, Grover Bosarker and George Wesleydorman. They climbed on and rode about fifty yards, when three of the young fellows in the party, Misses Sallie Kitchen, Annie Kitchen and Lois Kitchen, said that they would not ride in that sled if Arch Hughes was permitted to stay in there.

"The sled was stopped and Hughes was asked to get off, which he did, and his friends who had gotten on with him also got off, and they walked out to the dance.

"After the dance the five young men who had walked out made their brags that they would ride back to Nortonville or know the reason why, and when they left the McNeilly residence to start home, all went out to the sled. There had been no trouble at the dance and nobody spoke of trouble there, but on getting out to the sled a rough and tumble fight ensued, during which many blows were struck with short sticks of wood that had been picked up in Mr. McNeilly's yard.

"No one was hurt, however, but George Wesleydorman seemed to be the leader of the gang and he and Bosarker asked Pearl Newby and Dora Seymour to get out of the sled and walk back with them, which they did, a distance of about six miles.

"Up to this time there had been no particular quarrel between myself and Wesleydorman, except that he had been with the opposing group and the young lady he had asked to walk home with him was a particular friend of his, and it made no difference to me.

"Nothing more was said regarding this trouble at the dance until the night of the shooting. That night Oliver Steele and myself were in Story's store and just as we were passing Anderson's store on our way home the Wesleydorman ring were standing near there and George stepped out, came up to me and starting to put his arm around my neck remarked, 'I want to love you Tom.' I pushed him back and told him I wanted nothing to do with him, and for him to leave me alone. Again, he attempted the same thing and I struck him in the face and knocked him down. As he arose he pulled a revolver and fired two shots, one hitting me in the neck and one in the arm. I drew my revolver and fired one shot at him and he fell to his knees. My revolver then refused to work and as I saw Wesleydorman arising to shoot again I ran to Anderson's store, which was about ten steps away, and he fired three more shots at me, one striking me in the lung just as I stepped through the door."

Wesleydorman was next seen. He is youthful in appearance, apparently about 22 years of age. He is very cheerful, a pleasant fellow to know, and is very sympathetic. He said:

WESLEYDORMAN'S STORY.

"I was at Wheeler's barber shop on the night the sled party started for McNeilly's, and while I was there four of my friends came to the shop and said they had attempted to ride out with the sled crowd, but were put off.

"Together then they all walked out to the dance. After the dance we were joking the other fellows about riding back to town with them, although I had told Treble, the fiddler, during the evening, that we did not intend riding back. We all went out to the sled together and there was considerable mulling about us fellows riding back, and I stopped up to the sled and asked a couple of the girls if they didn't want to walk back, when Timberlain made a rude remark and said: 'You don't ride back in this sled,' and that started a rough house in which a few blows were struck, but no one hurt. The two

WILL BUILD SOUTHERN HOME

C. B. Lewis, of This City, Becomes a Resident Pensacola, Fla.—Has Purchased Property There.

The following concerning a former Jacksonville citizen is taken from the Pensacola (Fla.) Journal of recent date and will be of interest to many here:

"C. B. Lewis, of Jacksonville, Ill., recently purchased a lot on Gregory street adjoining the property of J. M. Cox and will soon commence the erection of a handsome residence. It is understood the structure will cost something over $6,000 and a contract for the work has already been let. Work will begin as soon as the necessary building materials arrive, nearly all of which have been ordered.

"Mr. Lewis has been a visitor to this city off and on for many years, his first visit having been made twenty-two years ago. He decided upon Pensacola, only after visiting every portion of the state and making a careful study of conditions of every nature. He was seen by a representative of the Journal last night and talked most pleasantly for some time of his visits to this and other sections of the state and gave his opinion freely of the advantages of Pensacola from several standpoints.

"I decided a long time ago that I would some day have a winter home in Florida," said Mr. Lewis, "and after having spent the winters for the past twenty-two years in this and other sections of the state, I finally made up my mind that Pensacola was about as good a place as I could find. The climate here is all that could be desired and during the many visits of my wife and myself we have become acquainted with a number of the residents of this city. I have traveled over nearly every portion of the state, including the famous east coast but am better satisfied with Pensacola than with any other section I have visited.

"I will probably not become a permanent resident of this city just at present but it is my intention to eventually stay here all of the time. Since coming here my wife, who was in poor health, has been picking up rapidly, which is evidence enough for me that Pensacola is a good city to live in.

"There is a great demand for Pensacola property, and I was lucky to get a lot in such a desirable location. After I had purchased it I found there were several others after the same lot."

"Mr. Lewis owns a large amount of property in Jacksonville, Ill., where he has been one of the leading citizens for many years."

We have several large amounts of money on hand for local loans.

We are now writing a fine line of all kinds of bonds, anything from a preacher to a mayor or alderman.

All kinds of fire, lightning or tornado insurance, on either buildings, stocks or rolling stock. Don't forget us.

We are sole agents for cotton and corn lands in the Great Mississippi Delta, the richest farming lands in the world. These lands have raised in price from two to ten dollars an acre in seven years and are still advancing. There is no reason why they should not triple in value within the next ten years.

The finest investment for small buyers in the world. Better than all kinds of oil or mining stocks and something that we are not afraid to place our reputation behind. Put your money in and forget it. Wake up and find that you have a fortune. No man or woman can make a mistake in buying southern lands.

The new railroads and canals have opened this country within the last ten years and that is the reason why it is coming to the front. We will take any number of people down at any time, but prefer to take them down on the first and third Tuesdays of each month on account of reduced fare. HAD YOU THOUGHT OF IT?
There have been a number of complaints coming into the office daily during the past few days regarding the throwing of papers by the carriers in the morning. Some claim their paper is missing, which probably does occur, especially when the wind is blowing, and others speak very sharply about the carelessness of the carrier in throwing the paper into the snow drifts.

When people are disposed to speak sharply of the efforts being made by the carriers in making delivery during this kind of weather, they should stop to think what it means to get out these morning at 3:30 o'clock, with the thermometer far below zero, just when the cold is most extreme and it is necessary for the boys to bundle up well to face the cutting morning air for two hours and a half. Having to wear heavy mittens it is no easy trick to fold a paper tight enough to throw very far and a trip to every porch would mean that they could not finish their work before noon. There are more people who want their paper before breakfast than want it on the porch and a quick delivery must be made. Although we require our carriers under ordinary circumstances to throw the papers near or on porches where possible, yet do not forget the trying conditions under which they are forced to work this kind of weather. They carry into every part of the city, touching the city limits at many points, and in many places have their own paths to make through the snow drifts.

DID YOU EVER LOOK AT IT THIS WAY.

When the catalogue comes from your mail order house, draw an easy chair to the table where the light will shine full on the page and put your glasses on that no bargain may escape your eyes. What a wonderful book it is, to be sure, wonderful for what it does not contain, as well as for what it does. We miss some things we would be glad to see. Where is their offer to pay cash or exchange goods for your wheat, oats, corn, beans, butter, eggs and hay? How much do they pay for cattle, sheep, and hogs? f. o. b. at your depot? How much tax will they pay to support your schools and educate your children; for improving roads and bridges; the support of the poor of the county; for the expense of running the township, county and state? On what page is their offer to contribute money to the church? What line of credit will they extend you when your crops are poor and money gone, when through illness you are not able to send "Cash with Order" for your groceries, clothing, farm tools and crockery? Where is their offer to contribute to your entertainment next year? What did they do last year? In short, will they do anything to provide a market for what you have to sell and thereby keep up the value of your estate? Will they do anything for social, church, school or government support, or do they take your dollars out of the community with no returns except the goods you buy?—Plainfield Enterprise.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

General Manager of C. P. & St. L. in City Last Evening—
Notes of Personal Interest.

General Manager J. P. Ramsey, of the C. P. & St. L., arrived in the city last evening about 7 o'clock. His private car, No. 30, was picked up at Havana by train 37 and brought to this city.

The Alton officials are anxious to maintain their reputation for safety and freedom from accidents, and Superintendent Ryder has been especially anxious that all trains proceed with caution. He issued an order requiring all trains which have been delayed to keep only on their running time, and not make up time. Patrons have no desire to see lost time made up in the present kind of weather, and would rather be delayed than run the chance of a wreck. The order to not make up delays was followed by another from Mr. Ryder Tuesday, and which reads as follows: "All trains during the severe cold weather, will approach water cranes and water stations carefully and know that the water has not run over the track and frozen and liable to cause derailment."

C. E. Pollard, traveling auditor of the Burlington, was in the city yesterday on company business. G. W. Knox, who was the former auditor of this division, has been transferred to the Omaha division.

Wednesday was pay day on the C. P. & St. L. in this city. Paymaster George Withrow came in on train 37 last evening and paid off the local employees.

Charles Wild, track inspector for the Alton at Woodson, was in the city Wednesday interviewing the local employees.

E. R. Tuttle, traveling passenger agent for the Union Pacific, was in the city Wednesday calling on the local railroad men.

The Burlington section hands were at work in front of the passenger station Wednesday, chopping the ice from around the rails.

The Burlington south bound local freight No. 94, was annulled yesterday for the day.

Burlington passenger No. 48 was about two hours late Wednesday afternoon. The C. P. & St. L. passenger, No. 38, backed up to the depot and was standing there when the Burlington train arrived in the city. The former started to pull up on the sidetrack to let the other train have the main track, but the engine refused to move for about ten minutes. The rails were slippery with ice and the Burlington train was kept standing near the Wabash crossing for some time until the crew of the other train could pull their train onto the siding.

Wabash freight No. 72 stalled in the snow on the Keokuk division Tuesday about noon. The train was heavily loaded and just as it was nearing Denver the engine stalled and refused to pull the train of cars, any farther. It stood on the track until yesterday afternoon and traffic was considerably delayed on that division by the mishap. The train crew was employed nearly all the time that the train was standing in the snow trying to move it, and they at last succeeded.

Berceuse from "Joelynn" Godard
"The Evening Star," from "Tannhauser" Wagner
Bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" Wagner
Wedding March Mendelssohn

As the subdued notes of the "Evening Star" died softly away, and the soft but grand and stately strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin pealed forth, the wedding party appeared at the west entrance of the main auditorium and passed down the west aisle. First came the ushers,
Mr. Clifford McGilivray and Capt.
Burnell Gunther, of Chicago, Mr. A.
Wehl and Mr. Stuart Pierson of Carrollton, Mr. Frank Elliott of Chicago and Mr. Virgil Robertson of Virginia.

Following the ushers came the
bridesmaids, Miss Hester Hawks, cousin of the groom, of Buffalo, N.
Y., and Miss Reon Osborne, Miss Nell Robertson of Virginia, cousin of the bride, and Miss Abigail King.
Mrs. John R. Robertson was the matron of honor.

Miss Elizabeth Robertson, sister of the bride and maid of honor, was the next to appear.

The bride entered upon the arm of her brother, Col. John R. Robertson, and with grace and stately mien,
together they passed down the west aisle, where the groom, preceded by the minister and accompanied by his best man, Mr. Norman McGilivray of Chicago, advanced by the east aisle and meeting the bride at the end of the west aisle, led her to the altar,
where the wedding vows were spoken.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Charles M. Brown, D. D., pastor of the church, and the solemn words of the beautiful Presbyterian service
were spoken in an impressive and eloquent manner. The beautiful ring service was used, and after the troth
had been pledged a fervent prayer was offered, bespeaking a blessing of peace and happiness upon the two lives that had been so recently joined in the holy and sacred bonds of matrimony.

The members of the bridal party took positions on opposite sides of the bride and groom, while before the altar. The maid of honor standing on the immediate left of the bride, the matron of honor taking a position in front of the bridesmaids, who were also on the left of the altar, the best man being in front of the groom-smen on the right. Col. John R. Robertson, who gave the bride away, stood just back of the bride and groom-elect and "opposite" the minister.

When the strains of the Mendelssohn "Wedding March" were heard the bride and groom passed from the church by way of the east aisle, followed by the bridal party.

The church edifice presented a beautiful appearance and artistic taste
and skill were handsomely combined
in the decorative emblems employed.
Banked in front of the altar was
a mass of palms, tropical plants, Easter lilies and laurel, while southern smilax entwined and intermingled in this bower added its charm. The balcony rail was hid beneath a thick covering of southern smilax, and the special seats reserved for the members of the family and immediate friends of the bridal party were designated by huge bouquets of Easter lilies.

The bride's gown was a striking creation by Weeks of white liberty
satin, rich in rare lace ornamentation.
She wore superb diamond adornments, long flowing bridal veil, with a wreath of orange blossoms as a headdress, and carried a huge bou-quet of the same flowers.

The maid of honor wore a beautiful costume of white chiffon, a cor-

Boston. Her literary and musical education has been supplemented by extensive travel both in this country and Europe and she is indeed a young lady whose companionship the worthy groom is most fortunate to have.

The groom is a resident of Buffalo, N. Y., and a practicing attorney of high standing at the Buffalo bar. He is a graduate of the University of Buffalo Law school, and also has a law degree received at Cornell university. In 1898 he answered the call of his country to arms and enlisted as a volunteer in the Sixty-fifth New York regiment, serving in the Spanish-American war. He was not conversant with military tactics at the time he and a companion turned the key in their office door and resolved to offer their services on their country's altar, but after poring over a book on military tactics for twenty-four hours, both of these gentlemen presented themselves for examination and upon their splendid showing were made commissioned officers.
Mr. Smith has also traveled extensively in this country and Europe and can boast of a distinguished lineage,
being a direct descendant of Richard Smith, the patentee of Smithtown, Rhode Island. Mr. Smith is a gentleman of manly bearing, but of retiring, unostentatious disposition. He is a member of the Country club of Buffalo, and is prominent in the business and social circles of that thriving metropolis situated on the Great lakes.

After leaving the receiving party,
the guests passed across the reception hall into the west parlor and then into the dining room,
where another scene of floral beauty met their vision. The center piece on the dining room table was a large basket effect made of white lilies, a profusion of white roses and ferns. Hero elegant refreshments were served and souvenir boxes of the wedding cake were received.

The music room, in deeply contrasted tints of bright red and the purest white, had a floral decoration
in the shape of a huge bowl of rare sunrise roses.

The wedding gifts were displayed in the southeast room upstairs, and here was found an array of costly china, delicate cut glass and magnificent silver, expressions of the esteem
and confidence in which the recipients were held by an admiring circle of friends.

Jeffries' orchestra was heard in a sage ornamentation of point lace, the skirt trimmed with wide lace ruffles. She carried an elegant bouquet of white roses and wore diamond ornaments.

The matron of honor made a beautiful appearance in a gown made entirely of lace and the creation was one of exquisite beauty. She carried white roses, and diamonds completed
her toilette.

The bridesmaids were most becomingly gowned in handsomely designed crepe de chine, trimmed with wide panels of lace. Wreaths of orange blossoms were their coiffure ornamentations and they carried shower bouquets of white roses.

A wedding canopy draped with the beautiful American flag, afforded shelter for the wedding party during their entrance and exit at the church.

The bride is the daughter of the late John Robertson, and comes from one of the first families in this section of the state. Her attractive manner, winning ways and great personal charm have made her deservedly popular in social circles, both at home and abroad. Her accomplishments are many and the Jacksonville Female academy claims her as an alumna, and she is also a graduate of LaSalle seminary. Mrs. Smith
also possesses musical attainments
and has studied with some of the best musicians in Jacksonville and also with Madame Salisbury, of

THE RECEPTION.

Immediately after the ceremony at the church, the guests followed the members of the bridal party in waiting carriages and were driven to the elegant Robertson mansion on West Lafayette avenue, where another scene of dazzling beauty was witnessed, graced by the presence of the first ladies and gentlemen of Jacksonville society, and from many places abroad.
The appointments at the Robertson
home for this final event in an engagement notable for the prominence of the contracting parties, and that has had the attention of social circles in both the Empire and Prairie state for many months, were in keeping with the resplendent features that have characterized this wedding.

After the guests had laid aside their wraps in the rooms above, they passed down the graceful winding stairway into the reception hall,
where a mantle banked with orchids greeted and delighted the eye, and where delicately tinted light effects added to the prettiness of the scene.
From the reception hall the guests passed into the east front parlor and met the receiving party. Cordial greetings were extended by Mrs.
John Robertson, mother of the bride, Col. and Mrs. John R. Robertson, the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hawks of Buffalo, uncle and delightful musical program during the hours of the reception.

At a late hour the guests passed from the house, sheltered by the wedding canopy and with the memory of a wedding event that is probably without an equal in the social sphere of classic Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left on an early morning train for Florida, where they will spend their honeymoon, and after April 1 they will be at home to their friends at "The Lenox" in Buffalo. The bride wore a going away gown of gray cloth trimmed with gray silk.

Among the guests present at this notable function from a distance
were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward C.
Hawks and daughter, Miss Hester Hawks, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Smith, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McGilivray, of Chi-

PUBLIC SALES.

The Wareup sale held near Woodson Wednesday was well attended and from $75 to $112.50.

The Taylor sale Monday was well attended, in spite of the bitter cold, and everything sold well. Cows went at $30 to $37.50; milks as high as $323 a span; hay, $6.07 a ton, and corn at 46 1/2¢ a bushel. At both sales

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING

Marriage of Mr. Frank Crum Dinwiddie and Miss Mottie Morle Brown Was Solemnized in Litterberry Wednesday Afternoon.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon in the Christian church of Litterberry, when Mr. Frank Crum Dinwiddie and Miss Mottie Morle Brown were united in marriage.

Just preceding the ceremony Miss Emma Burnett, of Waverly, took her place at the piano and skillfully rendered the following musical program:

Nocturne Chopin
Venetian Love Song Nance
The Thrush Nance
Love is a Straying Ever Since
Maying Nance
The Fairy Templeton Strong
The Nightingale Templeton Strong

Promptly at 4:30 o'clock the wedding chorus from Lohengrin announced the approach of the bridal party. First came Mr. Orrie C. Berry, with Miss Celia Borne of Corro Gordo, followed by Mr. Loren Dinwiddie, brother of the groom with Miss Dora Burnett of Waverly.

Lastly came the bride and groom, who took their places before Dr. Joseph R. Harker, of the Woman's college, who in an impressive manner pronounced the marriage vows. The bride party proceeded up the center aisle and stood before an arch of smilax, to which long streamers of narrow pink and white ribbon were fastened, reaching to the floor and attached to a bank of foliage.

During the ceremony Miss Burnett played softly, and the recessional was to the march from Mendelssohn.

The dresses of the bride party were very beautiful. Miss Borne wore white French lawn over white silk, trimmed with accordion plaiting of chiffon, and carried a shower bouquet of ferns. Miss Burnett wore pink silk (tulle over pink silk) and carried pink carnations.

The bride was dressed in an elaborate gown of cream satin under silk tulle veiling, held in place by clusters of white forget-me-nots, and wore a wreath of forget-me-nots, with a pom-pom of aigrette feathers, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, tied with long streamers of white tulle ribbon. Her dress was trimmed in real lace and pearl trimmings.

Immediately after the ceremony the entire company repaired to the Brown home, where a sumptuous banquet supper was served with Vickery & Merrigan as caterers. The bride party was assisted in receiving the guests by Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Harker and Miss Burnett. The parlor decorations were in smilax and ferns and white carnations. The living room was decorated in red and green, while the dining room was resplendent with bands of smilax, ferns and red carnations and candles with red shades.

The presents were numerous and valuable, consisting mostly of cut glass and Haviland china.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Litterberry and is a young lady possessing many graces of character. Her courteous manner and charming personality have won for her many intimate friends in a large circle of acquaintances. She graduated from the Illinois Woman's college in the class of 1904.

The groom is a young man of excellent standing in the community and enjoys the highest respect of all who know him. A man of purpose and integrity, he possesses every requisite to bring him success in life's battles.

Mr. and Mrs. Dinwiddie left on the evening train for Chicago and after a short stay there will be at home after March 1, on their farm four and one-half miles east of Litterberry.

THE STOMACH IN WINTER

Hearty Food Puts Extra Strain on This Important Organ.

Winter is a little more than half over, and the results of its hearty food are shown in the variable appetite, nausea, gnawing at the pit of the stomach, heartburn, sallow skin, furred tongue, headache, backache and sleeplessness. The stomach has been overworked, the nervous system is unstrung, the blood is in bad condition and the digestive organs are tired out.

It is at this season of the year that Mi-o-na, the only remedy known that gives strength to the stomach and digestive organs, is of especial value.

Mi-o-na is not a hit-or-miss cure, but is an unusual combination of remedies that makes it infallible in restoring health to the stomach and digestive system. It overcomes any acid condition that may be present in the stomach and intestines, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane, has a stimulating effect on the solar-plexus, and combines peculiar properties that strengthen the nerves of the stomach and puts the whole digestive system in so healthy, clean and sweet a state that fermentation of the food cannot exist, any disease germs in the stomach will be destroyed, and the digestive system will be so strengthened that it will extract from the food all the elements that make solid bone, firm muscle and pure blood. It is a guaranteed cure for all diseases of the stomach, excepting cancer.

The guarantee on Mi-o-na is given by one of our best known druggists, Hatch, who agrees to refund the price, 50 cents, should Mi-o-na not give perfect satisfaction. Ask him to show you the guarantee we give with every package.

FROST GOES DEEP

Water Mains in Many Cities Frozen—Jacksonville Escapes With Little Trouble—Ice Thawed Out by Electricity.

It is not perhaps generally known that the frost has penetrated so deeply this winter that water mains and service pipes which have never been reached by the cold before have frozen solid. This has been the experience of neighboring cities, in some of which a great number of mains measuring as much as ten inches have been frozen, while a countless number of service pipes have been similarly affected.

While this city has not escaped altogether from the effects of the severe cold upon the water system, it has been singularly fortunate in the fact that the difficulties of this kind have been scarce and the number of people effected small. About a dozen service pipes in different parts of town have been frozen, cutting off the supply of water from a like number of buildings, but there has been but one main frozen. This is the four-inch main on Diamond street, which ends in a "dead end" at the south end of the street, and is frozen below Anna. The fact that there are few consumers on the line and that the main is a "dead end" main, thus giving no flow of water, is the probable cause of its freezing, as much as the nearness of the main to the surface. That there are no more such cases in the city is certainly a tribute to the manner in which the water system has been put in.

City Engineer Brown has been thinking of trying the plan of thawing the pipes with electricity, and Wednesday made the attempt upon a number of service pipes. The first was twenty-five feet long and was thawed in one and one-half minutes, while the second, 200 feet long, required twenty-two minutes. The current for the work is taken from the city light wires through a thirty kilo-watt transformer. Connections are made to street hydrants, corporation cocks and cellar pipes, in this way a current being sent through the frozen pipes.

The experiment with the service pipes was so successful that this morning a current will be sent through the frozen main. The attachments will be made to the fire plug at the corner of Anna and Diamond street and to a corporation cock further down Diamond street. It is hoped that in this way the trouble may be removed without waiting for the slow process of thawing or of digging to the affected portion of the pipe.
